INSTAGRAM CONTEST

Use #BMUN64 in your Instagram posts this weekend, and we will select 2 winners - the most "liked" photo and the secretariat favorite - to receive special prizes!

Despite decades of effort and billions spent on traditional aid, about 7 million children will still die this year from mostly preventable causes. The world is short at least 4 million trained, equipped, and supported health providers who can help to solve the problem. Living Goods works to create 'Avon-like' networks of micro entrepreneurs who go door-to-door teaching families how to improve their health and wealth, and selling life-changing products like basic treatments for malaria and diarrhea, clean cook stoves, solar lights, and healthy fortified foods. These entrepreneurs are trained by Living Goods and equipped with the proper materials to run a successful and sustainable health care service that have shown to reduce child deaths by 25% for only $1-2 per person in the areas that Living Goods is at work. Each day Living Goods is expanding their network of health care providers and working to build a healthier world for those in need.

GUEST SPEAKERS

---

ALISA SHUBB

Alisa Shubb is a professor and chair of the Speech Department at American River College as well as a continuing lecturer at UC Davis. She specializes in interpersonal, intercultural, and group communication as well as public speaking and her academic interests focus on gender communication, listening, and the effects of technology on interpersonal communication. This year BMUN is excited to welcome Alisa Shubb as our guest speaker to speak on the topic of "Public Listening."

ALEX METTE

Alex Mette is the Business Development Manager at Living Goods and works to make Living Goods into a more sustainable, effective organization. Prior to joining Living Goods, Alex has helped mobilize funding for some of the world's most innovative and successful social enterprises including Ashoka, Educate Girls, and Samasource and contributed to the design and launch of the first development impact bond in education. BMUN is happy to welcome Alex Mette to Opening Ceremonies to speak on the influential work Living Goods is doing.

ALUMNI SCHOLARSHIP | AMAZON SMILE

If you wish to support the Alumni Scholarship, please consider donating on Amazon Smile. If you buy anything on Amazon, you have the option of having Amazon donate 0.5% of your purchase to Berkeley Model United Nations, an official 501 (c) 3 non-profit organization. All the donations will go directly to our Alumni Scholarship program to further subsidize low-income students to attend BMUN 65 next year. If you would like to help, visit <Smile.Amazon.com> and select Berkeley Model United Nations as your organization. It does not cost you anything because Amazon will donate on your behalf.
